

Anyone who signed up for the no call list obviously did not want ANY kind of telemarketing harassment. Do the Banks not understand that NO means NO. This burden of protecting our individual privacy should not be stripped away by some business who is looking to make even larger profits at the expense of the consumer .